Where to find coupons

You no longer have to search for hours to find the best deals. There are many sources available that make it easier for you to access these valuable coupons:

- Specialized coupon platforms: there are websites and applications that mainly focus on collecting and displaying the latest discount coupons for a wide range of online stores. These platforms are constantly updated to ensure you have access to effective and valid coupons.

- Email subscriptions: many department stores send exclusive coupons and discounts to their subscribers via email. Subscribe to the Newsletters of your favorite store to stay up to date with the latest offers.

- Social media sites: follow the pages of your favorite stores and brands on social media platforms, they often advertise special offers and discounts to their followers.

- While browsing: some browser add-ons or widgets can alert you that there are discount coupons available automatically while you are browsing online stores.

How to use the discount coupon effectively

Once you have found the right discount coupon, the process of using it is simple and straightforward:

- Choose the right coupon: make sure that the coupon you have chosen matches the product or store where you intend to buy. Pay attention to the terms and conditions of the coupon, such as the minimum spend or its validity.

- Copy the code: a coupon is usually a code made up of letters and numbers. Copy this code accurately.

- Add products to the shopping cart: go to the online store or its application, add the products you want to buy to the shopping cart.

- Paste the code at checkout: before completing the payment process, you will find a box dedicated to entering the "discount code", "promo code" or "coupon". Paste the code you copied into this field.

- Confirm the discount: after pasting the code, click on the "Apply" button or similar. You will notice that your total bill has decreased by the discounted value. Be sure to apply the discount before completing the purchase.
